Deerbrook Editions, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 222 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Fiction. Taking Tang poet Bai Juyi's poem "Come in the middle of the night / Gone at the break of dawn / Come as a fleeting dream of spring / Gone as a morning cloud vanishing without a trace"; as inspiration, MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT is The Best American Essays nominee HC Hsu's collection of award-winning personal essays from 2009-2014. Arranged by time written rather than date, these circadianly adrift essays explore love and sex, history and identity, hopes, nightmares, and other nocturnal joys and quotidian tyrannies haunting our sunlit existence. From a ghost-hunting chronicle in a famed Buddhist temple in rural Japan, to childhood memories of night markets, ancestor worship and martial law in metropolitan Taipei; from praising Elfriede Jelinek's pitch-black contempt, to lambasting Christ's ideal of compassion; from a vignette on crying at night and other habits after dark, to a sustained somnambulant philosophical meditation on the ontological virtues of chicharrónesa synchronicity emerges in these essays in the way they reveal the shadowy memories and experiences of a young Easterner living in the West, as well as of all those who consider themselves migrants, in the broadest sense, in the first light of a new dawn of globalization and diaspora.
