Excerpt: . 197550? sep-7!9!5 j l 5 v Introduction to First Edition. There has been a great demand in recent years for an authoritative treatise on the Care and Training of Trotters. The only books on the subject are out of date. We have endeavored to fill this demand. This book does not represent the ideas of one man, as in past treatises, nor of a few men, but of many. Practically all the leading authorities have kindly collaborated with four members of the editorial staff of The Horseman, during a period of about six months, in the preparation of this work. The authorities listed herein have assisted either by letter, personal interview, or in an editorial capacity, to the contents of this book. We desire to extend our thanks to all. Quotations have been made, in a few instances, from the works of Charles Marvin and John Bradburn, but credit is given each case. the publishers. March 1, 1914. Introduction to Second Edition. When we printed the first edition of this book in March, 1914, we did not anticipate that it would be necessary to publish a second edition so soon. We take this means of thanking our many friends who have assisted in the sale of the work. The title of the book has been lengthened by the addition of the words and pacers. This was done because we were in receipt of letters inquiring if the work treated of pacers as well...
